INQUIRY ORDERED
Sixty Weeks Reveals Only Men Were Executed, and
None for Cowardice

Washington, Nov. 1.—(Flat chain) Senator Thomas E. Watson, of Georgia, today announced that he had been investigating the execution of American soldiers in France during the war. He said that he had been told that many American soldiers had been executed without trial, and that some of them had been executed for cowardice. He said that he had been told that the execution of American soldiers in France during the war was a disgrace to the United States, and that he had been told that the execution of American soldiers in France during the war was a disgrace to the United States.

Senator Watson's charges. "How many soldiers know," Senator Watson asked in opening his statement, "that a private soldier was executed for cowardice? How many soldiers know that a private soldier was executed for cowardice? How many soldiers know that a private soldier was executed for cowardice?"

Pirates Tamed by the Colored Home and Yanks Keep Record of Losses
Clean by Losing Three to Cubs —
Innocent Still Knew in Y. M. C. A.
Bowling Tournament.

The Yanks kept clean their record of not having won a game in the "Y" tournament by losing three straight to the Cubs Monday night. The Cubs rolled 920 in the second game, a new high single game record. House had the high game of the evening, 211, and Thomas the high total score, 522.
The latter was pushed hard for the honor by McKean of the Yanks, who finished with 510.

OILS MOST ACTIVE OF MARKET ISSUES

Adverse Technical Conditions and Bearish Professional Operations Dominate Other Dealings

New York, Nov. 1. — Changes occurring in today's moderately broad but irregular stock market again were influenced almost entirely by adverse technical conditions and bearish professional operations.

Oil held their recent lead as the most active issues, but speculation in that group became increasingly confusing on the more unstable course of petroleum and prominent domestic shares.

Industrial shares of the steel, equipment, and allied types were under intermittent pressure to the accompaniment of lower price schedules, actual or prospective, and diminished earnings.

Technical reaction on rumors of a "hands off" and further losses among funds, chemicals, rubbers and several of the mail order and merchandising specialties were traceable to similar causes. Sears-Roebuck's smaller October sales being a case in point. Mixed quotations ruled in the transfer of funds incidental to November payments, the money market was comparatively easy. The 5 1/2 per cent opening rate eased to five per cent at midday and held.

The bond market was featureless on smaller dealings. Liberty issues showing steadiness, with firmness in most domestic industrials and rails. Some foreign flotations also were steady to strong.

STATE DAIRYING GROWS

Milk Producers Replacing Beef Cattle, Hogs, and Sheep During Past Breeds.

The last census shows dairy cattle to be increasing in New York, but beef cattle, sheep, and swine have decreased in numbers during the past ten years, according to the department of agricultural economics and farm management of the state college at Ithaca.

New York had 2,144,441 cattle in 1920 compared with 1,884,674 in 1910, or an increase of 3 percent in the ten years. The number of dairy cows, however, including heifers over one year old, was 1,740,632 on January 1, 1920 an increase of 14.6
percent over the number of "cows kept for milk" reported on April 15, 1910.

Beef cattle decreased rapidly during the ten-year period, until the business of raising beef has practically disappeared from the state, attracted westward by the lower prices of both feed and dairy products.

Sheep Also Decrease.

Sheep also decreased in spite of war, time prices for wool and mutton,
from about three and one half million in 1910 to less than six hundred thousand in 1920. There has been a decrease of 4.5 percent in the last ten years.

Hogs have decreased from a little over 1,000,000 in 1910 to 800,550 in 1920. Since 1910, New York has averaged about three hogs to every farm as compared with the last census figures of about 37 hogs to a farm in Iowa. This comparison, say the farm economists, shows how Iowa and New York farmers have adapted their farming to transportation, marketing, and feeding conditions in their respective states.

The Joyce stores have a splendid line of feed furniture, over stuffed parlor suits, mahogany chairs and lots

IMPORTANT TO FARMERS

Prominent Farm Bureau Speakers to Address Meeting at Milford Tonight—Both Men and Women Invited.

Milford, Nov. 1.—A Farm Bureau meeting will be held at Maccabee hall in this village on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to bring to the farmers of the county men who are trained speakers on subjects of vital interest to their business. It is also the plan of the bureau leaders to use these meetings as a means of vitalizing the organizations.

Rush F. Lewis of the Dairyman's League, Jared Van Wagenen of Schoharie county, President Frank M. Smith and County Agent Floyd S. Barlow of the Farm Bureau will be the speakers.

The meeting will be open to the public. Women need feel no reserve about attending as a special invitation is recorded them.

PETTY THIEF IN FRANKLIN.

Visits Backus & Scott Hardware and Made Richer by $25.

Franklin, Nov. 1.—Some unknown person, or persons, broke into the hardware store of Backus & Scott on Main street in this village Monday morning and was made richer by about $25.

When the store opened for business yesterday morning it was found that a pane of glass in the rear had been removed. The robbery was apparent in the fact that for all that he took so far as has been learned was $10 in the cash drawer and a tray containing about 27 jack knives. There was little disorder in the store and evidently the visitor had a liking for jack knives and took nothing else.

The authorities were notified of the robbery, but no clue has been uncovered as to the identity of the thief. The robbery was committed between midnight and opening time Monday morning.

TAKEN NOTICE.

That in accordance with section 128 of chapter 34 of the Laws of 1908, notice is hereby given that the last day of the redemption of the several parcels of land sold on the twenty-fourth day of December, 1910, by the chamberlain of the city of Onondaga, N. ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE ACTIVE

Opposes Stierwalt's Nomination in Delaware and Assembly Candidate in Chenango.

The Anti-Saloon league is mixing actively in the local elections in the adjoining counties of Delaware and Chenango and is endeavoring to oppose nomination to Republican nominees in both counties. In Delaware county the nominee is Marshall E. Arbuckle, former proprietor of the Edgerton house at Delhi, and an active opponent of no-license when the issue was brought up by his fellow citizen, Dr. L. P. Tucker, superintendent of the Central New York District of the A-S league, has issued a long letter in which he contends that Mr. Arbuckle is not fit to enforce the law against the liquor traffic. The letter states that on general principles the organization is opposed to any former liquor dealer as a candidate for any office which deals with prohibition enforcement.

In Chenango county Charles L. Banks, a former proprietor of a hotel at Norwich is the assembly nominee and the A-S league and the W. C. T. U. are opposing him. Mr. Banks has in reply to a letter from the secretary of the County W. C. T. U. written a strong letter in which he states that he favors the enforcement of the 18th amendment, the Volstead law and the Miller-Tamm law for enforcing prohibition in New York state. He also states that he will support any other enforcement measure that Governor Miller or any of the other leaders of the Republican party may propose.

In Honor of Clyde Reynolds.

The pleasant home of Mrs. Lillian Blanchard and Mr. and Mrs. William Blanchard, 20 Valleyview street Friday evening last was the scene of a pretty house party in honor of Clyde Reynolds of New York, formerly of this city. The evening was pleasantly passed in music, games and dancing. A delicious lunch was served which all enjoyed. At a late hour the guests departed expressing a hope for many similar gatherings.

ANNOUNCEMENT

In obeying a sincere desire to render the highest possible service to motorists, we have accepted the dealership of Franklin motor cars in Onondaga and vicinity. The present and future motoring public, we are confident, will agree that the sale of such fine cars as the Franklin will prove rich in consequent good-will for our organization.

A most inspiring chapter has been read into the history of the motor car industry by the Franklin Company during the past few months of business worry and business hesitation—a chapter of indisputable evidence that Franklin performance is equal to all the requirements placed upon it by exacting car owners.

The present period of careful, thoughtful buying has been marked in the Franklin organization, by steadily increasing sales. Sales this year have been 82 per cent of last year's high record and some months, June for instance, when ten hundred and thirty-eight cars were shipped from the factory at Syracuse, N. Y., have made new high records. For the past nine months the Franklin has been selling two and one-half times faster than the average of all other cars in the industry.

The uninterrupted and constant growth of Franklin sales is a result of the company's faithful adherence to the original Franklin principles of light weight, flexibility and direct air cooling. The striking advantages of the car built on these three fundamental principles are known to Franklin owners in these economy terms:

THE MINOR AMENDMENTS.

Among the seven propositions amending the state constitution which are to be voted upon at the general election next week, three of which concern only limited sections of the state and hence are in danger of being lost on account of indifference or lack of definite knowledge on the part of voters. These are the amendments which are numbered four, six and seven respectively. The first of these would amend the counties of Westchester and Nassau, in case the residents of these counties approve, to establish governing bodies for each county which would take the place of boards of supervisors. The other two would permit the legislature to lease, sell or otherwise dispose of certain abandoned portions of the old Erie canal in the counties of Oneida and Herkimer.

As regards Amendment No. 4, it is stated that these two counties are so thickly populated that their citizenship is practically from, and from reasons of economy and efficiency it is believed that public affairs could be better administered if there were a general form of government which would give supervision to one governing body, rather than to the present town board system. It is a matter which does not concern any other counties of the state. It is not obligatory on either Nassau or Westchester, but merely permits them to make such a change if they so desire; and the change could not be made in either county save by a majority vote. Since it is merely a local matter, it would appear that there is no reason why the two counties should not be permitted to make the change which they ask, or at least to express their will in the matter.

Amendments six and seven contemplate the abandonment by the state of a section of the old Erie canal about 34 miles in length, no longer of any value for purposes of navigation since the completion of the Barge canal. It has not been used for ten years past. The state expends at least $50,000 per year for maintenance and if it is not abandoned a very large sum will be required to repair this section and make it fit for use, all of which will be a waste of public funds.

The health and safety of about 200,000 people living in the locality of this part of the canal demand the adoption of the amendments. Water has not been run through the canal in several years. It has become a cesspool, a continuous breeding place for all manner of diseases. It is an abominably unsightly and nauseating ditch running through the heart of many communities. Nearly all of the 35 bridges spanning this section of the old canal have been posted as unsafe because of decay, only a few weeks ago one fell of its own weight, and it is inevitable that one shall sooner or later go down with human freight. The continued maintenance of this section of the old canal inflicts an unnecessary burden on the taxpayers of the state, and 200,000 citizens live in a daily nuisance and menace. Under these circumstances it is evidently the proper thing to sell this section of the old canal and permit it to be filled in.

On all three of the minor amendments—four, six and seven—the citizen will make no mistake if he votes "Yes."

Missionary Meeting at Unadilla.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Onondaga district, Wyoming conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be held in the Methodist church at Unadilla, Friday, Nov. 4. There will be two sessions, one at 10:15 a. m. and the other at 1:30 p. m. The morning session will consist of reports, reports and election of officers. At the afternoon session Mrs. C. F. Huntington and Mrs. Tracy Lord of Onondaga will give reports of the branch meeting held in Buffalo. The address of the afternoon will be given by Miss Helen Dearing, field secretary of Young People's work. Luncheon, for which an offering will be received, will be served at noon. It is expected that a large number from Onondaga will attend.

Doctor Shoots The Buck.

Dr. M. E. Nichols of Worcester, who with J. S. Deane of this city and other members of the Worcester club had been at the club house at Oregon Pass in the Adirondacks for a few days hunting, returned Monday evening with a fine buck, which he shot about seven miles from camp. Mr. Dauley and other members of the party also returned Monday evening. Mr. Dauley reports a fine hunt, having sighted nothing but deer and fawn. On the return trip, Mr. Dauley accidentally slipped in stepping from his car and injured his side, which though not serious is confining him to the house. They bring reports that none of the men at the Burton camp nearby where B. E. Swart and party are stopping, have as yet got a buck.

Elm Park Ladies' Aid Meets.

At the regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Elm Park church, held yesterday in the church parlors, there was a good attendance of the membership. The report of the treasurer was read and plans for the ensuing year were discussed. An excellent covered dish dinner was served at noon. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

President—Mrs. C. J. Jenks.
First Vice President—Mrs. W. D. Butler.

Second Vice President—Mrs. Park Lykes.

Third Vice President—Mrs. Rose Hubbard.

Secretary—Mrs. Arthur Dean.
Treasurer—Mrs. William Dougherty.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS

Bomb Prevention.

While a wave of attempted assassinations, poisoning, or injury of like nature makes its appearance in the shape of anonymous packages which are sent to persons in high official position, and even to private individuals against whom some one has a real or fancied grudge, injury and perhaps death through this means have been prevented in quite so much haste were exhibited in an examination of packages which came from an unknown source. The natural inclination is to open a package which one may receive, as there is always curiosity as to what the contents may be. Delay in opening, and care when that act is accomplished might save important lives. The postmen and the searchers would soon become discouraged if their efforts were not occasionally successful.—[Utica Observer]

Too Much Hatred in the World.

In a notable address, delivered this week in New York, Elihu Root, whose prominence as a member of the coming conference on armaments entitles him to a hearing, declared that "the world is full of hatred and strife and murder today because of the impetuosity of millions of people in organized states to receive the truth that is being spread throughout civilization, and which is this, but they are not ready for it."

He deplored this unhappy condition and pleaded for the development of character, which he said "must come through the exercise of the virtues that make human character, namely: mercy, compassion, kindly consideration, brotherly affection, sympathy with fellowmen, and unselfish willingness to sacrifice for others." When the speaker's address was ended, that the heart of humanity would be softened by its sacrifices and sufferings, but the strife and bitterness still rampant in the Old World show that the great lessons of compassion and kindly consideration are yet to be learned where hatred and selfishness prevail.—[Scranton Republican]

The Honest Child.

HUNTING TRAGEDIES.

Nine Killed and Nine Wounded Report of October in State.

Albany, Nov. 1.—Nine persons have been killed and nine wounded as the result of hunting accidents in the state, although the hunting season is less than a month old, the conservation commission made known tonight. The cause of most of the accidents was said to have been due to carelessness, eight being the result of guns accidentally discharged. One hunter was killed while at target practice upon his return from an unsuccessful deer hunt.

Two hunters were shot by being mistaken for partridge, and another when being taken for a deer.

Nixon Recovering.

Ralph Nixon of Unadilla, who was severely injured at the O. & W. crossing above Sidney a few weeks ago, has returned home from the Norwich hospital. Nixon was driving the New York truck from Cambridge to Unadilla when the machine was struck by O. & W. train No. 6 at the Miller crossing.

HEALTHFUL VIGOR IN STRONG BLOOD

Rich, Red Blood Built Up By Pepto-Mangan—Liquid or Tablet

Blood is strong and full of life-giving vigor when there are plenty of red cells in it. Anemic people have little strength because there are not enough red cells in the blood. It is thin and watery. Weak blood makes you feel tired, weak and sickly. A course in Gude's Pepto-Mangan restores weak blood to its normal strength. Taken regularly for a while it adds red cells to the blood. Then you feel good, the strength and vigor of good health return. There is pleasure in living, with blood running through the veins. Gude's Pepto-Mangan is put up in liquid and in tablet form. They are the same medicine. This has been proved by Gude's Pepto-Mangan for years. The name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on the package.

HOTEL COMPANY SUSTAINED

Justice Tutthill Denies Application of Earl DeMott for Delivery of Lease to Windsor Hotel Barber Shop.

Justice Tutthill has handed down a decision in the case of Earl DeMott against the E. E. Swart Hotel company, Inc., to compel specific performance in the completion and delivery of a lease to the barber shop premises in the Windsor hotel building, in which he holds for the defendant, and denies the application of the plaintiff. The case has attracted no little attention and has been in city and other courts. Mr. DeMott being apparently bent on retaining the possession of the shop in question.

Justice Tutthill in his opinion states:

"The infancy in this plaintiff's alleged cause of action is that the parties did not finally agree upon the terms of a new lease for the premises which the plaintiff has been occupying as a barber shop, it being plaintiff's contention that the negotiations between the parties were to the effect that heat and water would be furnished, by the defendant for the rent reserved under a new lease to be made for a term of five years, and that such provisions were to be included in the written lease, which the defendant refused to do. Concededly the parties contemplated a written lease to be made. The terms they never finally agreed upon and the proposed written lease prepared by defendant's representative, without a provision for the landlord's furnish, ing heat and water, was rejected by the plaintiff. With such a misunderstanding between the parties regarding material terms of the contract for which the action, at least in effect is brought, for specific performance, relief cannot be granted. Later the court says: "From the evidence in this case,

I am satisfied that the payment which was made as for the month of July, 1921, was not accepted as a payment under the proposed new lease, but as rent for the month of July so that the plaintiff might remain in possession and have an opportunity to find other quarters."

"In another place in the opinion the court says: 'The situation created may be a misfortune to the plaintiff, but I do not believe that it gives him a cause for action to compel the enforcement of the alleged oral contract for a lease or a term longer than is prescribed by statute for leasing otherwise than by written lease or its equivalent.'"

"The opinion says that the complaint should be dismissed upon the merits and findings may be prepared accordingly. John G. Johnson was the attorney for the plaintiff and Owen C. Becker for the defendant.

LOCAL MENTION

The Howler.
The howling derelict howled aloud. "Now, what's amiss?" asked we. "I howl with grief when things go wrong. They're awful now," said he.
"But absent-minded I have grown," this voice rose to a shout.
"And I've forgotten what it was I wished to howl about."

NEW SHOE COMPANY COMING.

Beck & Hazard Company to Lease Store in Reynolds Block.

The store in the Reynolds block at 135 Main street recently vacated by Max Greenberg has been leased by the Beck & Hazard shoe corporation, a concern with home offices in Auburn but with retail stores in various New York state cities, including about 50 in Greater New York, which concern took possession of the store on November 1. It is planned to open a retail shoe store therein as soon as contemplated changes can be made.

It is understood that the firm is already preparing plans for some extensive repairs to the store including an entirely new front which the firm will have constructed after its established design. It sends its own contractor here with plans and with instruction to complete the work at the earliest possible date. As soon as the repairs are completed and fixtures can be placed the stock will be shipped and the store opened. The date of the opening has not been announced.

DAIRYMEN'S LEAGUE DEFENDS POOLING

Says Co-operative Is Impervious to Attacks of Non-Poolers

ATTACKS LEADERS' MOTIVES

League Organ Asks Where Were Prominent Organizers of New Association When League Was in Its Infancy and Struggling for Existence—Co-operative Has Millions in Farmers' Pockets, It Asks.

Declaring the Dairymen's League Co-operative Association, Inc., has put millions of dollars into the pockets of the farmers in this section and that it is founded on a rock which no amount of assailing, such as that of the non-poolers' organization just formed, can destroy, the Dairymen's League News staunchly defends the pooling plan in a statement in its November 4 issue.

The statement in part is as follows: "Utica papers of late have been filled with considerable matter about the organization of the non-poolers, the announcement is made that they have incorporated and taken out a charter. The new organization has attempted some organization work in trying to get members and particularly in trying to get funds.

Contrasts Contrasts.

"We are publishing in the center of this page the contract of the new organization. Much has been said about the ironclad contract of the Dairymen's League Co-operative Association and how, under it even the farms of the signers could be taken. If the co-operative contract is ironclad how about the non-poolers' contract which will hold any signer liable for any act that the self-appointed leaders may carry out, including acts involving the finances of the signers of the contract."

"We have already spoken in the News of the kind of leaders of the movement and those who are in position to know are all agreed that the motives back of the leadership are not in the interests of the dairymen. But, be that as it may, supposing we grant that the whole effort of the new organization is sincere, what are they going to be able to do beyond stirring up unrest and hindering the progress of organization, that will secure for the real farmers anything worth while?"

Attacks Leaders.

"Since the Dairymen's league was incorporated in 1907, its leaders have worked long and hard to get dairymen to stick together for their own good. For years these leaders have been the same ones now back of the Co-operative association—worked time and effort for a movement which was laughed at by many at first. They kept at it because they knew that movement was right and because of the great need of dairymen for help, with the result that finally, back in 1916, they and the dairymen began to put out business on the map. Where then in those early fights were men like Strobel, the politician, or Hockimer county; Pratt, the lawyer in Utica who drew the papers and takes prominent part in the new organization? Where then was the leader of the new organization, Lawyer Rhodes of Little Falls?"

"Who can stand up today like a man and truthfully say that the Dairymen's league has not been well led, or that the Dairymen's League Co-operative association has not put millions of dollars into the pockets of the farmers of this section? No one. And, on the other hand, there are many thousands of farmers, both men and women, who believe in the great organization of which they themselves are a living part, and because these thousands of sincere, hard working men and women who believe in themselves and their neighbors do exist, the Co-operative association is founded on a rock, and no amount of assailing from its enemies can destroy it. But it is possible for dairymen, listening to the glib promises of self-appointed and self-seeking leaders, to become uneasy and discontented with their real organization, thereby holding up for a time its progress toward the betterment of their own welfare. It is also possible for the signers of the non-poolers' contract to lose considerable money.

"Founded on Selfishness."

"If it has taken all the long years of work and sacrifices since the league, an organization founded upon right and real honesty, was incorporated in 1907, to get where we are today in organization, how much real good do you think a spurious organization, born over night and founded on selfishness, can accomplish?"

Stanton, the Mysterious.

The Mysterious Stanton, as he is known in vaudeville, and to his friends and playmates of Oneonta as Louis, will appear tonight and tomorrow night at the Oneonta theatre in conjunction with the theatre regular feature photo-play program, has gained for himself quite a reputation as a vaudeville entertainer. Although it has been some eight years since he has appeared in Oneonta, many of his friends who have seen him uttering claim it is not to be passed by with mere mention and is worthy of a place along with the vaudeville offerings of the higher circuits. The writer can safely say that when it comes to the so-called milk can and trunk trick, Stanton need not be afraid to stand up beside the biggest giving this class of entertainment.

FEWER ACCIDENTS THE SLOGAN

LOCAL D. & H. SHOP MEN HOLD INSTRUCTIVE SAFETY RALLY YESTERDAY IN SHOP TEN.

Talks on Safety Problems Alternate With Entertainment Features—Oneonta shops have Enviably Safe Record, Says J. E. Long, Superintendent of Safety—Ratio of Accidents to Working Hours Reduced in Three Years From One in 15,000 Hours to One in 60,000 Hours.

Nearly 500 men attended the safety rally held for D. & H. car shop men in Shop 10 during the noon hour yesterday, and everyone came away from the meeting feeling that he had been personally benefited by the talks and was in a better position to safeguard himself and those of his fellow workers. The affair was not entirely a serious one. Entertainment features alternated with the talks on safety problems and were a source of much enjoyment.

Sanford A. Disbrow, foreman of the mill at the car shop, presided introducing various speakers with a wealth of humorous anecdote. The meeting opened with several selections rendered in a manner that elicited much merited applause, by the "Car Shop Sextet," composed of Haskell Fowler, Wright Terry, Kenneth Kniskern, James Walsh, George Gibbs and Louis Stanton. J. E. Long, superintendent of safety for the D. & H. system, was the first speaker. Mr. Long complimented the men of the Oneonta shops upon their excellent safety record, stating that since 1918 the ratio of injuries to collective hours of labor had been reduced from 1 to 15,000 to 1 to 60,000, a record which, in his estimation, no other car shop in the country can surpass. Mr. Long cited several ways in which accidents commonly occur and outlined means to prevent them. Safety is an "if" proposition, he said, and depends in the last analysis upon the individual. Following the general talks, selections admirably rendered by Anson Perry, Paul Baker, representing the employees, spoke, urging careful observance of safety first rules and regulations upon the workers. Archie Dittmore, new divisional car foreman, was then introduced and spoke briefly, expressing his appreciation of the efforts of the men to eliminate accidents and pleading for the exercise of care and good judgment.

A. C. Lange, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was the next speaker. Mr. Lange told of several safety lessons he had had while learning the machinist's trade. He said that "Safety First" is only a new slogan for an old idea as old as the law of self preservation. Every man is his brother's keeper, he said, and should hold himself responsible to see that no fellow employee is injured through ignorance or carelessness. J. J. Hurley, the last speaker, made a plea for co-operation with the first aid men. Accidents should be properly reported and the first aid department consulted immediately. He gave several examples where men had been laid up for long periods by injuries which, if they had been taken care of as soon as sustained, would have been trivial. The meeting closed with another selection by the sextet. Safety rallies are held periodically by the different branches of the road and have been instrumental in reducing preventable accidents on the system to a very small number per hour worked. Each branch of the railroad service is represented on a divisional safety committee. Ray C. Holwig, who was unable to be present at yesterday's rally, is safety agent for the Susquehanna division. There is admirable co-operation between the safety officials and the workmen with the result that "Safety First" is a practice rather than a mere slogan.

No Quorum Present.

There was no session of the common council last evening, no quorum being present. Mayor Murphy and Aldermen Patton and Clark were on hand, but other members were detained by one reason or another and no session could be held. The meeting was adjourned until Thursday evening, November 10, at which time it is expected that the city election canvass can be made.

CHAPTER WIDELY KNOWN

Exhibit of Oneonta Chapter of Red Cross at National Convention Creates Much Comment—Summary of Reports Submitted at Annual Meeting Monday Night—Gratifying Activity in All Departments.

That the Oneonta chapter of the American Red Cross is widely known for the quality of its work, was brought out at the annual meeting of the chapter on Monday evening. In his report on the proceedings of the National Red Cross meeting recently held at Columbus, Ohio, Robert Hall, spoke of the interest shown by delegates in the display of the local chapter of Oneonta made from the clothing and spoke of the favorable comment which he heard. A letter was read from the Indiana, Pa. chapter, in which their secretary stated that she had been impressed by the display of the Oneonta chapter at the Columbus meeting and requested that the Oneonta chapter aid their organization in starting similar work in Pennsylvania.

The report of Robert Hall, treasurer of the chapter, was submitted at the meeting and showed a balance on hand of $1,900.25. The total receipts during the year amounted to $7,985.23 and $6,085.10 was paid out. The chapter has over 3,200 members. Mrs. George L. Winans reported very satisfactory activity on the part of the production department. The enrolled workers numbered 762, and at 31 work meetings they completed 2,028 garments and made over 182. The report of the home service department was made by Miss Beatrice Holdredge. Since the first of the year information and help was given in the form of a large number of ex-service men. Aid was given in regard to compensation, back pay, insurance, citizenship, and other matters of importance to former soldiers.

Reports submitted showed that from May first to October first gratifying service had been rendered by the chapter in the matter of nursing aid in the establishment of clinics of various descriptions. During that period over 400 visits were made by Miss Robertson, the Red Cross nurse, including many infant welfare visits. A large attendance was reported at the baby, tuberculosis and venereal clinics held. It is the intention of the chapter to establish clinics for the treatment of various other diseases and to make the Community House a real health center for the city.

The report of Mr. Hall as to the proceedings at the Columbus meeting of the Red Cross was intensely interesting and reminded the members of the Oneonta chapter forcibly of the wonderful work that the Red Cross is doing throughout the country. Men of nationwide fame spoke at the Columbus meeting and Mr. Hall very capably summarized their remarks. He read several clippings from Columbus newspapers relative to the meeting and spoke of the great enthusiasm at the convention and of the determination of the delegates to make the Red Cross an even more potent factor in the life of the nation.

Meeting for Organization Postponed.

The meeting for the organization of an auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans, which was announced for Monday, has been postponed to Friday, November 4, at 2 p. m. at the State armory.

THIS BEING FATHER AND SON WEEK—

DEATHS.

Dorothy May Bishop.

Dorothy May, daughter of Ernest S. and Sarah (Mumford) Bishop, passed away early yesterday morning at her home, 7 Center street, following a three days' illness from diphtheria. This was the second attack of the disease within two years. All that loving hands could accomplish was done for her relief, but the dread disease had fastened upon her so that all effort was of no avail.

She was a bright, lovable child who won the affection of all with whom she came in contact. At the Center street school she was a very earnest and untiring pupil, her one aim until the last. Had she lived until November 30 she would have been seven years of age. Besides her sister, sister-stricken parents, she is survived by one brother, Ralph, and by numerous more distant relatives who unite with friends of the family in mourning her loss. The funeral, which will be private, will be held at her late home on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Dr. E. J. Farley, of the First Baptist church, of the Sunday school of which she was a member, will officiate. Burial will be at the Plains cemetery.

Edward P. Randall.

Edward P. Randall, for many years a resident and well-known citizen of Oneonta, died Monday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. C. Wilson, of Oswego. The body will be brought to Oneonta on the evening train from Albany today. The funeral will be held at the McCrory undertaking rooms on Main street at 11 a. m. Thursday. Rev. Mr. Canby, of the United Presbyterian church will conduct the service. Mr. Randall had been in poor health for several years and it is understood that the immediate cause of death was heart failure.

The deceased was born in Masonville in 1849 and his early life was spent in the portion of Delaware county. He came to Oneonta while a young man and for many years was employed as machinist with the D. and H. company. His wife died about seven years ago and since that time he had resided most of the time with the daughter named above. He is survived by three children, Mrs. Wilson of Oswego, Charles Randall of Oneonta and Frank E. Randall of Pearl River, this state, as well as by several grandchildren. Mr. Randall was well-known in this city, where he was long a respected resident and many friends of an earlier day will learn with sincere regret of his demise.

Deaconesses Elect Officers.

At a meeting of the deaconesses of the First Baptist church, held yesterday afternoon at the church parlors, Mrs. Charles Parish was elected president, Mrs. Fred Todd, vice president and Miss Harriet Andrews secretary and treasurer for the ensuing year.

DEATH OF ARTHUR N. COY

DEEP SENSE OF PERSONAL BELIEVEMENT, PERSUADES COMMUNITY.

Announcement of Denise Early Tuesday Afternoon a Shock to Many Friends—Native and Life Long Resident Esteemed by All—Funeral Friday Afternoon.

No death in the city of Oneonta of recent date has elicited more heartfelt expressions of regret and of personal sorrow than were heard yesterday afternoon when the tidings ran from lip to lip that Arthur Nelson Coy was no more. A resident from birth of this city, he had grown to manhood here and the ties which in childhood he had formed had grown stronger and sweeter as the time had widened his circle of acquaintance, of friendship and of intimate companionship. To his grave he will carry the regard of all who knew him and a loving memory which even the flooding years cannot efface.

The death of Mr. Coy occurred at 1:25 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at his home, 18 Elm street. His illness, which was of only six days' duration, was of septic pneumonia, doubtless having its origin in an ulcerated tooth, from which an abscess had formed. The funeral services, which will be private, will be held from his late home at two o'clock Friday afternoon. His pastor, Rev. Dr. James C. Russell, of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate and interment will be in the Plains cemetery. Friends desiring to pay their respects to the deceased will be welcome between the hours of 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. on Friday.

Arthur Nelson Coy was born in Oneonta, September 20, 1881, and was a son of James O. and Eva (Nelson) Coy of this city. He was a student of the Oneonta Public schools, graduating from the high school with the class of 1900 and entering immediately upon the study of pharmacy, which he made his profession in life. He was for 18 years an employee of the Gildor, sleeve drug store and for the past three years had been manager of the store of Marsh, the Druggist, a position which he filled with entire satisfaction alike to his employees and the public. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church, of the Oneonta Masonic lodge, the Country club and of the Oneonta lodge of Elks. An excellent singer, he was also formerly a member of the First Presbyterian choir and of the Elks' Glee club.

Mr. Coy is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Nan Reid, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. Reid of this city, to whom he was married September 12, 1902 and by one daughter, Helen Reid Coy, now 14 years of age. He leaves also his parents, Alderman and Mrs. James O. Coy, one sister, Mrs. George Custer, a brother, Charles Coy and a nephew and niece, Frances Reid and Donald Coy, a lot of Oneonta. The deceased was from boyhood an example of what is best in the youth of our land. From his earliest days he was upright and honorable, genial and lovable and the character which then distinguished him, continued to the last. In business he was painstaking, accurate and courteous. In the life of the town he was a welcome figure and in the home he was distinguished by all the qualities which endear the husband, father and son. In their present sorrow the family will have the sympathy of all who from personal acquaintance know meaningfully at least the depth of this bereavement.

Missionary Workers Meet.

At the meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church at the church yesterday afternoon there was an interesting discussion of What the Races Bring to America. Of that Mrs. A. P. Mills of Good, Miss Tobey. The discussion was listened to attentively by those present, both young ladies presenting their side of the subject in a bright and attractive manner, with facts interspersed with humor and pathos. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in young comfortable. Luncheon was served by Mrs. DeBonde and Mrs. Richardson.

Gilbert A. Lane, accompanied by Mrs. Lane and their son, Barton Lane, left yesterday morning for Providence, R. I., where Mr. Lane, who has not been in good health for some time, will enter a hospital for treatment and not improbably an operation. The best wishes of many friends will go with him for complete recovery and an early return to his home in Oneonta.

Miss Poston's Report for October.

The report of Miss Bertha Poston, executive secretary of the Family Social Work association, for the month of October shows that 103 cases were handled during that period by the association. Of these, 18 cases, 25 cases during the month, the remainder being either cases carried over from September or recurrent cases first taken up in previous months. The cases closed during October numbered 22. Thirteen were carried over inactive and 80 cases remained in charge at the end of the month.

Several cases of dependency were investigated by Miss Poston, who found the causes of such dependency to be as follows: Delinquency, 23; illness, two; non-support, one; mental defects, three; need of general supervision, 19.

Enjoyable Halloween Party.

A very enjoyable Halloween party was given last night at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Smith, at her residence, 7 Clinton street, Monday evening. The house was decorated in orange and black by Mrs. H. J. Fisher and Miss Maude Barnes.

The evening was pleasantly spent in games and dancing, after which delicious refreshments were served. The party ended at about 2 a. m., the guests voting Mrs. Smith an ideal hostess.

DELAWARE SUPREME COURT

FAIR SESSION CONVENES AT DELHI WITH JUSTICE A. L. KELLOGG ON THE BENCH.

Negligence Case of Palmer vs. Northrup Called a Mistrial and Jury Discharged — Criminal Conversation Case Settled Out of Court — Sealed Verdict Returned in Case of Brockway vs. Seemer — Disposition Made of Cases of Men Pleading Guilty as Indicted.

Delhi, Nov. 1. — Supreme court convened at 9:30 o'clock this morning with Justice A. L. Kellogg on the bench, and the jury took their seats for the trial of the case of Harry W. Palmer of Delhi versus Ray Colburn of Franklin, a negligence case to recover for damages for injuries sustained in an automobile accident. Before the trial commenced the sheriff was asked to bring into court the two boys, Harry Whitmore and Clarence VanBuren, both of Koenig, who had been indicted for larceny and who had pleaded guilty when arraigned yesterday. The justice severely reprimanded the boys and told them that he would do as follows with their cases: VanBuren is to work on his father's farm for one year and is to report every three months to the county humane officer. Whitmore is to be placed in the custody of the humane officer, who will find a place for him to work on a farm in Oswego or Chenango county. He must not return to Delaware county for a period of one year, the justice's idea evidently being that it would be a wise move to separate the boys.

Before the trial of the Palmer vs. Colburn case had proceeded very far, a witness gave testimony contrary to the instructions of the justice, who thereupon decided that it was a mistrial and discharged the jury. The next case on the calendar was that of Northrup vs. Budine, an alleged criminal conversation case. Probably much to the disappointment of some of the court sitters, the case was settled out of court. Hon. Charles Finesch acted for the plaintiff and Arthur E. Conner for the defendant.

The next case called was that of Brockway versus Seemer for damages for personal injury. Ives and Craft appeared for the plaintiff and Senator Walton for the defendant. A New York city policeman on duty at the Gilboa dam, Senator Walton was not present, but A. L. O'Connor of Hobart appeared for him and asked a postponement on the ground that the defendant was ill in New York city. As no satisfactory evidence was produced on this point and as the plaintiff was present with all his witnesses, the court allowed the case to proceed, the defense having the privilege of cross-examining witnesses. The jury returned a sealed verdict tonight.

During the day at intervals in the court proceedings several parties who had been indicted by the grand jury pleaded guilty and various dispositions were made of the cases.

Your state of health largely depends upon the food you eat

No one who is physically ailing in any way can afford to take chances with the food he eats. For upon the selection of your food, and upon its perfect digestion and assimilation largely depends your state of health.

The most important thing in connection with the digestibility of any cereal food is the way it is prepared—and the length of time it is cooked or baked.

Grape-Nuts, the rich cereal food made from whole wheat flour and malted barley, is probably baked longer than any other cereal food.

A large part of the starch of the wheat and barley is changed into dextrin and grape-sugar in preparing Grape-Nuts. This is one reason why Grape-Nuts is so easily digested by even the most delicate people.

Grape-Nuts is wheat and barley so processed as to make it delicious and appetizing; even young children thrive on it and grow strong and rosy.

Go to your grocer today and get a package of Grape-Nuts. Eat it as a cereal with milk or cream, or make it into a delicious pudding. It will be enjoyed and relished by every member of the family.

FRAUD CASE COMPROMISED

Gilbert H. Thomas Released From Custody Upon Promise To Pay Bond Bill.

Gilbert H. Thomas, 22, who was arrested in Albany Sunday by Officer Odell for skipping a bond bill, pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Huntington in City Court Monday morning. The case was settled when Thomas agreed to pay the bond bill and the police and court costs. His attempt at fraud will cost him just $150.

Thomas, a relief engineer on the D. and H., roomed and boarded with Mrs. Marjorie L. Stringer at 67 Church street. He was transferred to Albany about the middle of September, leaving an unpaid bill amounting to $135.

When it became apparent that he did not intend to settle his account, Mrs. Stringer brought the matter to the attention of the police authorities and a warrant was issued for his arrest on her complaint. Officer Odell arrested the man Sunday while he was in Albany on another case.

VISITS VOLGA DISTRICT

REV. E. A. YARROW, SON-IN-LAW OF MRS. HENRY TUCKLEY WRITES INTERESTINGLY.

Director General of Caucasus Branch of Near East Relief Tells of Sights in Volga Famine Stricken District—Distress Much Worse Than Had Been Anticipated.

Mrs. Henry Tuckley of Birmingham, who is visiting in the city, is in receipt of a letter written by her son-in-law, Rev. E. A. Yarrow, long in charge of a mission at Van, Turkey, now director general of the Near East Relief work in Caucasus, which tells of a visit to the famine stricken Volga district in Russia. It is dated in the latter country September 7 and from it the following, comprising substantially the first portion, is taken.

Russia, Sept. 7, 1921.

Dear Friend,

Since last writing I have been to Constantinople where I had several important conferences with the administrative committee and among other things it was decided that I should remain in my present position for the coming year. I was also able to collect a number of much needed personnel of high calibre. Incidentally we purchased 40 fine mules from the British army and brought them along with us. Shortly after my return a delegation of 25 Americans under the leadership of Mr. Vickery came to inspect our work. It was quite an ordeal for me, as it is difficult for people to get the background after difficulties have been passed. Since the Turks have evacuated, many Armenians are returning in wretched condition. In Erivan especially there are many children in deplorable condition roaming the streets without food or shelter. We had taken in 500 children there in the preceding two weeks but a new bunch had recently arrived. I gave orders to have them cared for and received a telegram after we left saying that this had been done. People read and hear the stories about suffering but it comes as a terrible shock to them when they actually see it. I remained in the city three days and the party was able to see what can be done with the children when opportunity is given for organization. There are about 15,000 children at this center and the personnel had gotten them into pretty good condition. One can understand what the Near East Relief means when one stops to think that unless a small group of Americans had remained this winter practically all of these children would have died. The delegation left the Caucasus with a great determination that the funds necessary to carry on the full program should be obtained some way or other.

Word reached the delegation that there was very grave suffering among the people of the Volga district in Russia, and it was decided to send a Near East Relief expedition to investigate conditions and place the information before Mr. Hoover if he were to head up the relief or before the American public if no such organization had been formed.

There was no intention of extending the activities of the Near East Relief but the rumors which reached us were so appalling that it was felt that the exact news should be published. I did not think of going north after the absence to Constantinople, but the opinion was so strongly expressed that it would be desirable for a relief organizer to go that Mr. Vickery finally gave me written orders assigning me to the party. The deputation consists of Mr. Johnson, agriculturalist, Mr. Hibben, writer; Mr. Connes, connected with the supreme court of New York state; Mr. Voris, associate secretary of Near East Relief, and myself. The Georgian government was very cordial in making arrangements for our journey, giving us quite a nice private railway coach which had to be thoroughly cleaned, but even after a two days' scouring the bed bugs were not exterminated and a couple of nights after we started they attacked me in force. I stayed 76 in my bed and then left the field in disorder and slept the next few nights on the dining table. We have been fighting them ever since with indifferent success.

I trust that the findings of our deputation will be printed and put in circulation, in which case it will not be necessary for me to go into details. It took us six days to get to Moscow from Tiflis. At many points we saw the vanguard of those who were leaving their homes in the Volga basin and fleeing anywhere they could find transportation in their mad search for bread. We were received with a cordial welcome by the government in Moscow and remained there for about a week. We were kept very busy with interviews seeing Kressin, Chetichern, Kaminett, etc. We were disappointed in not seeing Lenin, but was in retirement resting somewhere near Moscow and was not to be seen. While we were in Moscow a number of newspaper men arrived, the first who had been allowed in for some time. We learned that Hoover had definitely taken up the question of organization of relief and before we left a group of Hoover's workers arrived. In order to complete our survey we went on to Samara on the Volga and then to Tzaritzin on the Volga by rail and then to Tokorietzskaya, where we joined the Rostov-Baku line. We are now side tracked at Armavir and as our work is practically completed we are impatiently waiting to be pushed along. It will probably take us four days to reach Tiflis, the whole trip having been accomplished in about twenty-five days and the distance covered nearly a thousand miles.

It is difficult to state in a few words what we have seen but on the side of famine distress it is much worse even than we had anticipated. On the way up we were on the Western outskirts of the famine districts but beginning with Baku we began to see evidences of the conditions which were driving the people from their homes. We found thousands of refugees seeking their lives, in clinging to the sides of railway cars, riding on bumpers, and beneath carriages. In talking with many of these refugees we were told the same tale, of unprecedented drought, with practically total failure of crops, of the farmers remaining until everything was eaten up and then starting out in search of food having no objective before them, taking the first means of transportation which would carry them away from the stricken area. After we reached Samara and coming down through the center of the stricken area we saw the thing itself. Owing to war conditions the crops for the previous two years had been much below par but this year there was no rain and in many places the grass hoppers ate what did sprout. The situation is the most appalling that I have ever come in contact with. Something like ten million people are faced with inevitable starvation unless aid is sent from outside countries. The people are living on all sorts of substitutes for food, acorns, leaves of trees and grasses. The situation has not reached its acute state yet, but there are many deaths, and conditions in Armenia today are worse than on the Volga, but it is terrible to think that we will take place within the next few months unless extended help is given. At Tzaritzin the Commissar told us that by January just all of the food supply of his district which held one million and a half people, would be exhausted and then there would be nothing but starvation ahead. This is typical of all the stricken provinces. We saw hundreds of families trekking off in wagons and carts carrying what they could of their earthly possessions. Few will reach their destinations as the distances are so great and the country they traverse so desolate that their animals will fail or their supply of food will be exhausted before they get anywhere. We saw cases of horses falling dead and leaving the occupants to board trains, but, of course, the food supply giving out the occupants of the wagons were forced to sell their animals in a great majority of cases, the families leaving their homes with a fair equipment expend it or lose it, and very rapidly they fall from the class of thrifty self respecting peasants, to simply members of a numberless horde of exhausted sick discouraged and dying humanity. I have seen so much of this sort of thing during the past seven years that I instinctively look at it from the angle of organization and begin to plan in my mind how it could be handled, but one can never get hardened to such an extent that he is not influenced by individual cases. We saw many most heart rendering tragedies being enacted before me. One case which got me was that of a fine, strong looking villager, who had evidently lost his wife. He had one little girl of about four and a baby of about a year old. This little group was at one of the railway stations waiting for a chance to jump a train. All their possessions were contained in a large sized dish pan, to which a rope was attached and which was being dragged by the little girl. The man carried the baby, which was plainly in an advanced stage of undernourishment. While we were in the station we saw the little party make several attempts to board trains, but, like many at the pool of Bethesda, the opportunity was lost before it even fairly presented itself. The last view of them we had was their seating themselves beside the railway truck and the man trying to feed the starving baby on a much munched piece of marmelade plaid, which he had picked from the ground. I tried to attract his attention as we passed in order to give him a can of condensed milk, but without success, as the train was moving too fast. Strangely enough of the tens of thousands of similar cases which we saw, this one of a strong man left alone with two little children and driven from his home in the search of food, under circumstances over which he had no control, after he had exhausted every resource, made the strongest impression on me and I cannot get the picture out of my memory.
